Enrollment Expected to Exceed 5,000 as Schools Open Monday

The Sikeston - Miner-Morehouse schools will open Monday.

A full day of classes will be held.

It is expected that the total enrollment for the year will exceed the 5,000 mark, with 4,850 reporting on opening day, Supt. of Schools Lynn Twitty announced.

Of these 325 will be kindergartners, with an enrollment of 2,100 in grades one through five, 1,100 school students and an enrollment of approximately 1,325 in the four-year high school.

A program of classes will be offered for adults and the total enrollment in these classes is expected to total 2,000.

One hundred 61 full-time adult students are enrolled in the Manpower Development Training Act classes.

The faculty will number 275. Of these, 101 are in the kindergarten elementary area, with 140 in the junior and senior high school. Approximately 26 are instructors in vocational and adult programs.

Sixteen school buses will make their usual routes Monday to transport approximately 3,750 children. Bus routes may later be changed.

Parents of children who have problems relating to transportation may confer with principals to see if changes are possible, Twitty said.

"Although, the legislature approved bills appropriating the same amount of money that Missouri's schools received last year, there is some question that state revenue will be enough to finance even this amount," Twitty said. "It is positive that it will fall short of the legislature, but not funded because of the defeat of the proposal. It is also a possibility that local funds may be reduced, if total district property evaluations are lowered as has already been true in a reduction of certain property classifications."

The reduced budget, according to Twitty, will result in the elimination of some educational services previously offered. He said that cuts would be made in those things which would least affect the educational program. The school lunch program will operate the first day.

Air Mishap Mars Low GroundToll

SAIGON (AP) — Thirty-two Americans were believed dead today in one of the worst helicopter crashes of the Vietnam war, but the U.S. Command announced that American battlefield casualties last week dropped to their lowest level in 4 1/2 years.

The weekly casualty report said 52 Americans were killed in action last week and another 368 were wounded. A spokesman said it was the lowest casualty total since the week ending March 5, 1966, when 61 Americans were killed and 177 wounded.

Enemy and South Vietnamese casualties also were down. The U.S. Command said allied forces killed 1,055 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong last week, the lowest in more than three years, while the Saigon government reported 247 of its troops killed, the lowest in a month, and 745 wounded.

The American report did not include the casualties in the shooting down Wednesday of the 50-foot-long, 14-ton Chinook helicopter.

Kennedy Introduces Insurance Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to create a comprehensive national health insurance program, with benefits effective in mid-1973, was introduced today by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

The program would cover all citizens, without individual limit, over the entire range of health services except for certain nursing home care, mental and dental treatment and some medicines and equipment.

Kennedy estimated it would pay 70 per cent of all health expenditures in the nation, roughly twice the amount now paid by the Medicare and Medicaid programs for the elderly and indigent, which would be terminated.

Joining Kennedy as principal sponsors of the plan were Sens. Ralph Yarborough, D-Texas, John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio. Kennedy, in prepared remarks for the Senate floor, said the program would be financed through a trust fund similar to that for social security.

Six Charged With Failure to Pay Tickets

Police reported six have been charged with failure to pay overtime parking tickets.

They are Jerry Martin, 839 East Kathleen; Edward Heacox, 312 Illinois; Linda Weneck, 605 Taylor; Gene Yokley, 117 Winter; Helen Jones, 239 Watson; and Clifford Wheeler, 809 Poplar.

Three have been charged with careless driving. They are Howard Little, 304 Greer; Thomas St. Clin, 312 Crowe; and Percy White Jr., Benton. Jessie Halford, 803 East Kathleen, is charged with failure to wear protective headgear while riding a motorcycle.

lost water carries with it potassium and bicarbonate, the blood turns acid and vomiting results. Then the kidneys stop functioning, allowing toxic materials to pile up.

The disease is easily treated with infusions of water containing bicarbonate and potassium salts.

Cholera affects more than just the health of a nation's citizens; it is a detriment to trade with other nations. Therefore, many nations in which the disease appears choose to deny its presence.

Although Syria has embarked on a vaccination campaign, the government says it is to prevent the disease from coming in from abroad. The government denies reports that three fatal cases occurred in the central part of the country.

Egypt claims there's no cholera there—just a severe epidemic of intestinal disorder. In 1964 and 1965, the Soviet Union stopped shipments of citrus fruit and other goods from Iran because of reported cholera there.

Then Iran and Iraq stopped reporting the disease; now they refer to cases or "summer diarrhea" from time to time.

The present epidemic actually dates back to the early 1960s, when the disease broke out of Indonesia, then spread through Southeast Asia, Formosa and Korea. By the mid-'60s it had headed west through India and Pakistan, then the Middle East, Iran, Afghanistan and Iraq.

Cholera was first reported on the south shore of the Caspian Sea in the Iranian town of Rasht in 1965. It is believed the epidemic spread across the water to Soviet areas on the Caspian Sea either that year or the next.

The industrial city of Astrakhan, at the mouth of the Volga River on the Caspian Sea's north shore, has been sealed off recently. Volgograd and Ylyanovsk in the Volga River basin are likewise affected, as are Odessa on the north shore of the Black Sea and the resort of Batumi in Soviet Georgia.

There's no word of the severity of the Soviet outbreak, and officials are not saying how many people are affected by the disease. But the government newspaper Izvestia gave an indication when it reported restrictions on movement to and from the areas, and said: "Travel from the hotbed of the infection is completely stopped."

He said Richard McCall, Murray Lane, is charged with burglary in connection with the theft of a tape player, projector, lantern and stove from a garage belonging to Dale Webb, 2014 Kentucky.

Floyd Porter, 630 Vernon, is charged with tampering with a car at Estes Motor Company, he said.

He said J. T. Johnson, Dunn Hotel, and J. W. Johnson, 327 Crowe, are charged with petty theft.

Gilmore said an investigation by Sheriff John Dennis, Deputy Sheriff Gerald Inman, Juvenile Officer Fred Eugene Glover and Police Capt. Lawrence Woodward links them to incidents ranging from the theft of car shift to a truck transmission to a six-pack of beer.

from a 3.5 per cent tax on employers' payrolls, and 2.5 per cent from a 2.1 per cent tax on individual income up to $15,000 a year.

Based on 1969 figures, said Kennedy, the plan would have paid out $37 billion.

Kennedy emphasized that his bill would not create a national health service of government-owned facilities and government-employed doctors.

"On the contrary," he said, "the program proposes a working partnership between the public and private sectors."

It would replace, he said, "the large amount of wasteful and inefficient expenditures already being made by private citizens, by employers, by voluntary private agencies, and by federal, state and local governments."

"Only in this way can we begin to guarantee our citizens better value for their health dollar."

Kennedy said "with only four exceptions, there are no restrictions on needed services—no cut off points, no coinsurance, no deductibles, and no waiting periods."

Kennedy said the bill was patterned after the recommendations of the Committee for National Health Insurance, founded in 1968 by the late Walter Reuther.

The senator declared that "America faces many serious and critical domestic problems, but none is more pervasive or more difficult than the deterioration of our once proud system of health care."

The Nixon administration so far has shunned notions of a national health plan for all citizens.

However, the President has indicated he will propose legislation next year in connection with his welfare reform plan—to scrap Medicaid for a new program aimed at doubling the number of poor persons for whom health services would be available.

Six Arrested

Four Sikeston teenage boys and two juveniles have been arrested in connection with a series of petty thefts, attempted thefts and vandalism that have occurred in Sikeston within the past month, Scott County Prosecuting Tom Gilmore said today.

He said Richard McCall, Murray Lane, is charged with burglary in connection with the theft of a tape player, projector, lantern and stove from a garage belonging to Dale Webb, 2014 Kentucky.

Floyd Porter, 630 Vernon, is charged with tampering with a car at Estes Motor Company, he said.

U.S. -Soviet Role in Mideast Peacekeeping Being Considered

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — High administration officials say the United States would seriously consider agreeing to have U.S. and Soviet units join in a peacekeeping force for the Middle East.

The administration spokesmen say they have in mind a physical presence of the two powers, perhaps as an observer force, under a United Nations umbrella.

The concept was outlined to 48 newspaper and broadcast executives from 13 Western states Monday. Release of the information was withheld for 48 hours. Ground rules of the

Tire Blow Out Blamed For Death

Mac Anderson Hightower, 19, Olive Branch, Miss., was killed in a one-car accident Wednesday at 5:50 p.m. on Interstate 55, six miles south of Scott City, when a left rear tire blew out on his 1966 Pontiac.

Hightower was traveling south, and had passed a truck, when the tire blew out, caused the car to slide sideways off the road and turn over. The driver was thrown partially through the windshield.

His body was taken to Bisplinghoff Funeral Home in Illmo.

His wife, Emma Yvonn Hightower, 17, was bruised and was taken to Southeast Missouri hospital in Cape Girardeau.

An accident on I-55, Wednesday at 8:10 a.m., four miles north of Hayti, injured two. A 1966 International stationwagon, pulling a camper, started swaying and ran off the highway.

The driver, Steve J. Pechae, 56, Phoenix, head cuts and his wife, Irene, 59, had face and arm cuts.

Both were taken to Pemiscot County Memorial hospital in Hayti.

A 1952 Ford pickup truck, driven by Emile Henry Davis, 39, Wyatt, was on a gravel road, one mile from Wyatt, Wednesday at 12:55 p.m., when two of his daughters fell or were pushed out while children were playing in the moving vehicle.

They were Mildred Davis, 12 and Brenda R. Davis, 12. Both received minor injuries.

Hog Cholera Quarantine In Stoddard

BLOOMFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Gibson Stockyards has been designated a "clean stock yard" for the handling of hogs from central Stoddard county, where a hog cholera quarantine has been imposed.

The State Department of Agriculture said slaughter hogs can be moved from the quarantine area after being inspected by a veterinarian and certified on the farm of origin.

The quarantine was imposed Wednesday.

and that both powers will have to agree to any settlement terms.

Whether the two would have to become involved in practical details of peacekeeping activities is still an open question, they said, but the United States never has precluded such an assignment and apparently does not intend to do so now.

The briefing was the third in a series of five that will cover all regions of the country. In large measure it was repetitive of one earlier in the month at New Orleans for the South.

On other points, the briefers said:

—Vice President Spiro T.

Agnew is underscoring the "Nixon Doctrine" on his current Asian trip, promising support but encouraging Asian nations to help themselves.

—As a result of the Cambodian sanctuary operations, the chances of survival of the current Lon Nol government in Cambodia are better than 50-50, compared to about one in four before that move.

—The strategic arms limitation talks, viewed with continued cautious optimism, are considered to be the best arms control negotiations the United States has ever engaged in with the Soviet Union. And, the Russians are described as taking a more sober approach than ever before.

—On dissent in the United States over Vietnam policy, the administration was described as conscious of the concern of some of the country's most dedicated people. But one of the briefing officials commented that the people do not forgive leaders if they produce disasters—even if these disasters carry out the wishes of the people.

Economic Indicators Turn up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's broad index of economic "leading indicators" rose significantly for July, giving a firm basis for hope that the nation's business slowdown is drawing to an end, the Commerce Department reported today.

Coupled with the previous day's report that wholesale prices fell for the first time in two years, the indicators were further encouragement to the Nixon administration. It has been trying to cope with a faltering economy less than three months before the congressional elections.

The indicators, which are computed in an effort to predict the economy's movements over coming months, rose 1.6 per cent during July, the largest monthly gain since April 1969. It was the first time in more than a year that the index has risen for two consecutive months.

Fire Razes Marijuana Case Hearing Sept. 3 Home at Anniston

ANNISTON — Firemen from East Prairie were called to the home of James Dorris in Anniston at 8:30 p.m. yesterday to combat a blaze that engulfed the home, which was destroyed.

Origin of the fire, which started in the rear of the house, was undetermined.

Mrs. Dorris and a daughter were at home watching television and were unaware of the fire until the back room was in flames, it was reported. Only a few items of clothing were saved.

End War Forces Soften Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a last-minute effort to gain votes, Senate critics of White House Vietnam policy have offered President Nixon new flexibility under their "amendment to end the war."

Their inclusion of a 60-day period in which the President could suspend the total withdrawal of troops from Vietnam came as Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird declared U.S. air power will be used in Cambodia as long as it results in reducing U.S. casualties in South Vietnam.

As the stop-the-war amendment underwent its third rewriting the Senate voted, in effect, to allow continued use of herbicides in Vietnam—despite any adverse effects on the environment—and to approve more spending for the C5 transport, already burned by a $2 billion cost overrun.

McGovern said if additional time were needed, the President could submit a revised timetable and other recommendations to Congress for approval within 10 days after his first action.

Meanwhile, Laird told newsmen: "If we can destroy enemy troops and supplies with the minimum casualty rate, I'm for it and I will authorize it."

He agreed with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew that the United States will do all it can to help the Lon Nol regime governing Cambodia.

The Hatfield-McGovern amendment would restrict the U.S. spending to expenses of withdrawal, to secure release of prisoners of war, to provide asylum for any Vietnamese endangered by U.S. withdrawal and to aid the Republic of Vietnam.

News Briefs

Bond Puts Blame on Hearnese
JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Christopher (Kit) Bond of Mexico, Republican candidate for state auditor, today blamed Missouri's financial mess on Democratic Gov. Warren E. Hearnes "and his lieutenants in the General Assembly."

"They are the source of the problem, not the cure," Bond said in a speech prepared for a meeting of GOP candidates for the Missouri Legislature.

"I have talked to many people who had voted for Hearnes in 1968," Bond said, "but now want a change."

"Everyone in this state has had it with financial shenanigans and political coverups. The people of Missouri know something is really wrong in Jefferson City and they know it is not going to be corrected by the governor and his lieutenants in the General Assembly. . . ."

"Finding out where our tax dollars are going will be my job. Setting intelligent priorities on future spending will be your job. We need major improvements in both areas."

Plant-Killer Ban Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today turned down a proposal to ban the use of plant-killing chemicals against crops in South Vietnam, a tactic critics called chemical warfare against food.

The 48 to 33 vote came a day after the Senate rejected a broader amendment, 62-22, banning the use of plant killers against all forms of plant life, including the use of defoliants against jungle growth.

"The vast majority of the crops we've destroyed have been South Vietnamese crops, not North Vietnamese crops," Sen. Charles Goodell, R-N.Y., one of the sponsors of the amendment, contended.

"We should not be engaged in war against the civilian population," Goodell said.

"War is hell as Gen. Sherman said," declared Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., "but since we're in it ... I very strongly urge we not put any more impediments on those boys and hence increase rather than decrease their chances of survival."

"We're trying to destroy the means of making war," he said.

School Levy Proposals Fail

WENTZVILLE, Mo. (AP) — Piousness school district and Tuesday in the Ritenour district. School opening was delayed by proposed $5.43 tax levy and school officials said classes would be postponed until after Sept. 14, the date set for another election on the same amount.

Levy proposals failed Monday in the Ferguson-Hazelwood and St. Charles.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

If a woman is not worrying because she might have more children, she is worrying because she might lose some of those she has.

HITLER CHAVEZ

After a five year "strike" against the workers and growers of California grapes, one would expect loud rejoicing upon the part of those across the nation who helped the "United Farmworkers" to maintain a grape boycott. Other than the announcement that a large number of growers had capitulated, however, there has been very little said about the results. It may be that those who were patsies for Cesar Chavez are too embarrassed to reveal the outcome.

By way of background, there never was a "strike." The farm workers were happy with their jobs, their income, and their employers; they did not want to join a union and refused to do so. When Chavez failed to recruit the workers, he turned to the boycott as a means to blackmail the growers into caputalation-which is exactly what happened.

The contract which has now been signed, therefore, is not between the workers and growers; it is between Chavez and the growers. The details of that contract have been quietly hushed up. The only report we have seen was by news columnist James Kilpatrick, who revealed that the key passages in the contract read:

"Union membership shall be a condition of employment. Each worker shall be required to become a member of union immediately following seven (7) days of employment, and to remain a member of union in good standing. Union shall be the sole judge of the good standing of its members.

"Any worker who fails to become a member of union within the time limit set forth herein, or who fails to pay the required initiation fees, periodic dues or regularly authorized assessments as prescribed by union shall be immediately discharged upon written notice from union to company."

So, as reported by Mr. Kilpatrick, the workers sign or else. They have no other choice. They have no control over the amount of the initiation fee, the dues, or the union assessments - all of this has been pre-determined by Hitler Chavez. If they don't join, they don't work.

Who says there is no fascism in America? Heil, Chavez!

A Man without ceremony has need of great merit in its place.

PRISON JUSTICE

Arbitrary discipline ranks with overcrowding, racial tension and homosexuality as a major problem of the nation's prisons. Convicts in all parts of the country complain that they are placed in isolation or subjected to other harsh forms of punishment for what they view as the relatively minor infractions of the rules. The complaint may soon become less commonplace in New York State prisons. A federal judge has ordered state corrections officials to submit to him by Sunday, Aug. 30, a list of proposed changes in prison disciplinary rules.

Judge James T. Foley's order followed complaints by two prisoners who had been placed in solitary confinement. One prisoner said he had been ordered into a segregation cell when he refused to agree to work in a prison shop. The other said he had twice spent time in a "strip cell," deprived of clothes, bedding, soap and toilet paper. Judge Foley's order cited the "awesome" power of prison officials to impose disciplinary sanctions and argued that there should be written procedures providing for "practically judicial hearings."

Negro convicts complain that they are victims of discrimination inside as well as outside of prison. A black inmate of Soledad (Calif.) Prison told a Los Angeles Times reporter (Aug. 9, 1970) that when he sat quietly at staff committee hearings, it was written in his record that he was hostile and suspected of conspiracy. If he told the committee what was on his mind, he added, he would be accused of being a racial firebrand.

Despite such gripes, California's penal system is regarded as perhaps the country's most enlightened. It stresses rehabilitation, not punishment, and has produced some striking results. A U.S. News & World Report survey (Aug. 24, 1970) showed that only 13.5 per cent of 50,000 adults convicted of felonies in California last year were sent to state prisons; the remainder were placed on probation. As a result, the state prison population has dropped by 8 per cent in the past year or so. More significantly, the recidivism rate among released convicts has fallen from 50 to 32 per cent. California's approach is economical, too; every reduction in the prison population represents a saving to taxpayers. (R.L.W.)

The Missouri State Highway Commission awarded contracts for construction and improvements totaling $222,712,009 during calendar 1969. Also, during this period, $25,961,499 went for the purchase of right of way.

Thousands of young people in the Teen Action Program (TAP) of the March of Dimes across the country serve in the fight to prevent birth defects.

PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK

Higher prices are making women more dependent on their daily newspapers for shopping help, Jack Kauffman, president of the Bureau of Advertising, said recently.

Women seek information from ads as well as from the editorial material. For example, a recent study by the Bureau found that three out of four women look at newspaper advertising before a major food shopping trip, and the women mostly likely to shop the ads were the ones most concerned with higher prices.

Women go to newspapers, Kauffman said, for the information they need in day-to-day living. This not only includes food shopping and food preparation, but clothing, home and garden and even child care.

Ric Leslie revived the one about Tennessee's 'Fiddlin' Bob' Taylor, who was inspecting the state penitentiary when woman approached him and implored a pardon for her husband.

"What's he in for?" asked the governor.
"Oh, he jes' stole a few pieces of side meat out of a neighbor's smokehouse. He ain't no good to this state nor nobody else in the penitentiary," she paused a moment, and added "he ain't much 'count nowheres."

"Well," asked 'Fiddlin' Bob,' "If he's so no-'count, why do you want him out?"
"We're plumb out of meat again," she confessed.

FOR YOUR INFORMATION

In his year-end report for 1969, FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover pointed out that the Castro government has tried to become a major factor in the direction of the New Left and black extremist groups in the United States. "Intelligence personnel at the Cuban mission to the United Nations in New York City," said Hoover, "established close liaison with selected leaders of these dissident movements and participated in the guidance of the groups' day-to-day activities."

You've just about closed the deal for the new Zoomer 8 sport coupe you've been wanting, when your friendly auto salesman says, "Before you sign the order, you should know that tests have shown this car to be unsafe under many normal driving conditions.

"Its brakes are subject to severe 'fade' at high speeds," he goes on, "the power steering is extremely sensitive under slippery-road conditions, and the gas tank is liable to explode if another car strikes the Zoomer 8 from behind."

Sound like a fantasy? Maybe so, today; but a recent proposal from the Federal Highway Administration may result in just such dialogs in the future.

The proposal would require new cars to undergo safety tests conducted by the government, which would publish the results. Carried to an extreme, the government could also require manufacturers and their agents to make sure prospective buyers are aware of these test results before they buy.

Under the published proposal as it stands right now, manufacturers would be required to make public information about their vehicles' braking performance, tire performance, vehicle side protection, illumination and glare of headlamps, field of vision, acceleration and passing ability, steering ratio, vehicle performance while towing trailers, and flammability of interior materials. Such information would be part of the new car manual and probably published by the government in other forms as well.

Obviously there are a number of problems involved in implementing the proposal. Among these are the need for uniform testing so that the information that results would be meaningful; and there are hundreds of different models that would have to be tested with consideration given to many variable factors--weight differences, tire sizes, horsepower, etc.

Even with these problems, however, it is possible that such a testing and information requirement could go a long way toward solving the many safety problems that have occurred in recent years with cars just off the assembly lines.

But until the whole thing is worked out, how about a sign on each new car's dashboard: "CAUTION: DRIVING THIS CAR MAY BE HAZARDOUS TO YOUR HEALTH."

A man built a new house of which he was very proud. Among other contrivances, he had an arrangement whereby he could pull a lever, and a bathtub would come out into his bedroom. One day he was showing a lot of men his new house, and took them to his bedroom, where he explained the patent bath tub. "I will show you how it works," he said, pulling a level. The bathtub came out into the room, and his wife was in it.

THE PLOW
The plow, symbol of peace and the rise of man above an animalistic existence, may be retired someday to an honorable place in the museum. Non-tillage farming is the latest agricultural innovation. It has been introduced by one of the country's top chemical companies, whose laboratories have developed a compound that is applied at the same time unplowed ground is seeded. The compound is absorbed by weeks and other vegetation and kills them in one to three days, leaving a protective mulch for the soon-to-germinate crop plants. The chemical deactivates on contact with the soil, thereby eliminating danger to the growing crop and leaving no residue buildup in plants or soil. The possibilities of non-tillage farming stagger the imagination. The multi-stepped tillage practices of agriculture today require moving 250 billion tons of soil each year in various tillage and cultivation operations. This is a major cost of farming which the non-tillage method can cut drastically. If it becomes standard practice, the resultant savings could mean another agricultural revolution with incalculable benefits to farmers and consumers alike. Non-tillage farming shows once again how an advancing civilization depends upon the inexhaustible talents that can only be drawn upon in a nation where encouragement of research, innovation and change are all part of freedom.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

—By Jack Anderson—

WASHINGTON -- Three arch conservative Senators renowned for strangling consumer bills have gotten a death grip on a "class action" measure to help bailed buyers fight back. Some of America's most famous corporations are egging them on.

The class action bill permits individual buyers fleeced by makers and sellers of shoddy goods and services to join together in damage suits in Federal courts. At present, each consumer must sue on his own and bear the court costs by himself.

The bill, championed by consumer advocate Ralph Nader, was steered skillfully through the Senate Commerce Committee by Chairman Warren Magnuson, D-Wash. It carried by a hefty 17-2 vote.

But Magnuson was ambushed by old Jim Eastland, D-Miss., the dour chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, who insisted on having the bill for 30 days because it deals with the courts.

Eastland's committee has been a traditional graveyard for legislation benefiting consumers.

Magnuson protested vigorously to Eastland and his pals that they should have the bill only for 20 days, hoping this might cut down on the damage they would do the legislation. Finally, Magnuson was forced to relinquish it for a month.

In the Judiciary Committee, Eastland, a yo-yo for drug interests, is joined by Roman Hruska, R-Neb., a wealthy insurance executive, and John McClellan, D-Ark., a well-heeled banker. They have been driving loopholes into consumer legislation for years.

They can expect assistance from a swarm of lobbyists, each out to exempt the industry or company he represents from the legislation.

This column has already turned up heavy lobbying on the bill by these companies and trade groups: Procter and Gamble, J.C. Penney, Union Carbide, Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers, U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the Grocery Manufacturers of America, National Association of Life Underwriters, and assorted bailed buyers fight back. Some of America's most famous corporations are egging them on.

While the individual companies have considerable power, even more influence is wielded by the trade associations which do the bidding of an entire industry.

Eastland, Hruska and McClellan, joined by their lobbyist friends, are now trying to engineer an extremely unfavorable Judiciary Committee report on the class action bill.

They can expect opposition from Sens. Phil Hart, D-Mich., Joe Tydings, D-Md., and Ted Kennedy, D-Mass.

Unfortunately, however, most of the other members of the committee side with Eastland and company.

Thus, the class action bill may be in serious trouble. For if the prestigious Judiciary Committee comes out against it, the way will be made easier for wavering Senators to oppose the legislation.

And while this may make a few consumers angry, the Senators can at least contend they were persuaded by the Judiciary. They they can reap a bounty of campaign contributions from industry lobbyists.

CURIOUS COINCIDENCE
Rep. Julia Butler Hansen, D-Wash., whose subcommittee holds the pursestrings of Washington's Smithsonian Institution, got furious the other day when this column asked how her son, David, ended up on the famous museum's payroll this summer.

Mrs. Hansen insisted she had never even talked to the Smithsonian head, Dr. Dillon Ripley, about her son's job. "I never asked any favors," she said. "David never asked for any favors either."

All Mrs. Hansen did was to

It has been introduced by one of the country's top chemical companies, whose laboratories have developed a compound that is applied at the same time unplowed ground is seeded. The compound is absorbed by weeks and other vegetation and kills them in one to three days, leaving a protective mulch for the soon-to-germinate crop plants. The chemical deactivates on contact with the soil, thereby eliminating danger to the growing crop and leaving no residue buildup in plants or soil. The possibilities of non-tillage farming stagger the imagination. The multi-stepped tillage practices of agriculture today require moving 250 billion tons of soil each year in various tillage and cultivation operations. This is a major cost of farming which the non-tillage method can cut drastically. If it becomes standard practice, the resultant savings could mean another agricultural revolution with incalculable benefits to farmers and consumers alike. Non-tillage farming shows once again how an advancing civilization depends upon the inexhaustible talents that can only be drawn upon in a nation where encouragement of research, innovation and change are all part of freedom.

LIMITLESS HORIZONS

Young people who turn their backs on careers in business in favor of allegedly devoting their lives to "public service" do not seem to understand that the profit motive and public service are not only compatible but complement each other. An illustration of how this works is contained in a late press release from one of the oldest prescription drug houses in the nation -- Eli Lilly and Company.

Mr. Eli Lilly, in the more than 60 years that he has been active with his company, has participated in the greatest era of medical and scientific advance in all time. Of course, his company profited from his efforts. If it had not, it would have been unable to carry on the research that helped to produce the miracle drugs that have brought many of the most dreaded diseases of man under control. Thanks to such efforts, the average life span has been vastly increased. If this is not public service, what is? The history of the drug industry as a whole is similar to that of this one company.

When talking about public service, it is well to define exactly what we mean. Spurning profits and climbing on the public payroll, which must be supported by profits, with the notion that this automatically casts a person in the enviable role of working for the public good is sheer nonsense. We already have too many public servants riding the backs of the taxpayers in this manner. The young person who wishes to render a genuine public service--a service that will be remembered long after the faceless members of a bureaucracy are forgotten--can do no better than enter business where, as men like Mr. Lilly have if it wants, there can be no found the horizons are limitless.

MOON FEAT ---
STAMP OF APPROVAL
It has become fashionable to downgrade the moon landing and criticize this nation's spending on space, but an awful lot of people were excited at the exploit of Apollo 12.

In fact, 8,743,070 of them were excited enough to purchase first-day "covers" of the moon landing postage stamp. This many souvenir envelopes and stamps were canceled with the special cachet, reports Postmaster General Winton M. Blount.

The figure is nearly triple the previous record for a first-day issue, the stamp commemorating John Glenn's orbital flight in 1962.

Within days after the moon stamp was announced last July, requests for covers began arriving in Washington from more than 100 countries and crested to 60,000 to 80,000 a day. It took a crew of 100 five months to process them all.

Don't misunderstand. We aren't going in for a lot of reckless spending. Goodness knows we have trouble enough with planned spending.

Inside Labor

—By Victor Riesel—

LUST FOR LIFE:
Despite Soviet-Arab Enceintement, Israelis Restrict Not A Single Human Right.

Ashdod, Israel:—And in this land of the chosen people there are little children who have not slept in beds for some two years.

Each night they go into improvised bunkers in settlements (kibbutzim) along the Arab borders, and Arab gunners, artillerymen and mortar units shell women and youngsters.

And so it is that leaders of the big Histadrut Federation of Labor bring these children for surcease into the cities, Jerusalem and Tel Aviv. And the children, some of them 3 and 6 hit government hospitals, clinics years old like those who were wounded by Soviet Katyusha mortars the other night, sleep in real beds, on real pillows, romp and played. It was in real playgrounds without fear of sudden razor-edged shrapnel dismembering them. And for a moment there is laughter.

And to relieve the children's parents of tensions springing from fear, not for the adults, but for the children, and to ease the backbreaking pain of working the fields with machinery and machine guns at the ready, labor leaders volunteer to work in the frontier settlements. The union chiefs till the soil, pick the fruit, operate the equipment and thus (for a few days the Jewish frontiersmen are beyond the range of Arab gunsmen.

But, mistake it not, siege or no siege, the leaders of Histadrut, its rank and file and the regional labor councils have a fierce fetish -- freedom, internal and eternal democracy. War is war, siege is siege, but democracy is democracy.

For evidence of this undying passion, just come into this ancient site of the Philistines. In Biblical times, this strip of Mediterranean beach was a Phildistine stronghold. Now Ashdod is a new city around an ultra-modern port which is entry for Southern Israel.

Thus there are longshoremen, Stevedores are stevedores. They know what they want. If they don't get it they strike. And the Jewish dockers have been striking, they stevedores foremen, or the Israeli version of them.

They want more money, they ask for a bigger piece of the action. If there's going to be containerization and the Port Authority will be picking up the few more operating dollars, the dockwalkers want to cut in on the profits with higher wages. They have struck this new port. They have paralyzed it for a short time. They have slowed down. They have forced the diversion of freighters from here to Haifa up north.

And not too far south one can hear the sonic boom of fighter aircraft. It got hotter than the noonday desert here not too long ago. The Port Authority brought criminal charges against have not slept in a bed for years.

H.L. Hunt Says

CASTRO'S 17TH ANNIVERSARY

On July 26, Fidel Castro commemorated the 17th anniversary of his communist revolution by admitting that the Cuban economy was in serious trouble. "Our enemies say that we have difficulties, and in that our enemies are right," Castro declared. "They say there is discontent and in fact, our enemies are right."

Castro acknowledged a severe decline in production of beef, milk, bread, shoes, clothing and fertilizers. He blamed these problems on the diversion of labor to work in the sugar cane harvest. Yet this harvest itself fell 1.5 million tons short of the 10 million ton goal which Castro had set as a "point of honor for the revolution."

To "solve" these problems the communist leader proposed a greater centralization of economic control. He announced the creation of a bureau of Social Production to oversee economic planning. Castro described the new bureau as "a political instrument of the party."

Any serious student of the communist economic system knows in advance that Castro's "solution" will simply aggravate the problem. A collectivized, centralized economy is doomed to failure because no "political instrument" can motivate men to production. Only individuals who are allowed to own their own property in freedom are able to meet their society's economic needs.

Although Castro told his audience that they could replace "the leaders of the revolution ... can substitute when it wants, at the moment it wants, right now if it wants," there can be no possible doubt that Castro is an absolute dictator who can never be peacefully removed. So long as his rule continues, the people of Cuba will continue to suffer. HLH

Freedom is freedom. What sense is there in mobilizing for it, or leaving one's home and family for six or seven weeks on a sudden call-up, or being on the never-ending alert, ceasefire or no ceasefire, if one doesn't practice it.

Ann Landers Next Door Neighbor Runs Around The Yard Nude, and Offends!

Dear Ann Landers: You've done it again -- for the one millionth time -- and I am sick of it. I refer to your slamming home movies. In the column I am now reading you said, "I know of few things less interesting than another person's blueprints -- unless, maybe, it's slides they've taken of their last trip." Maybe YOUR dumb friends and relatives take lousy pictures of dull places, but that doesn't mean the whole world is like that.

For instance, my Uncle Joe takes wonderful pictures. The slides of his trips are always a treat. The whole family loves to look at them. It's like being right along on the trip.

If you are ever near Midland, Michigan, Ann, I hope you will drop over to Uncle Joe's and spend an hour looking at his slides. I promise you, you'll change your mind. --D.F.S.

Dear D.F.A.: Some invitation! What's your name? I can't find you in Midland with only initials to go by. Uncle Joe Who? Where does he live? I've been in Midland -- twice, in fact. It's one of the prettiest cities in America. And it has one of the best newspapers, too. Give me a REAL invitation and I might surprise you.

Dear Ann Landers: I'll be brief and to the point. We live in a highclass neighborhood. Trashy people can't afford to buy homes in this section. Six months ago a certain young couple bought the house next door. They have two children -- an infant girl and a little boy, about two and a half years old.

The mother allows the boy to run around the yard nude. I find this very embarrassing and my husband doesn't like it either. Is there a law against it? We don't want to call the police but if our neighbors are violating an ordinance perhaps we should.

I had some ladies in for bridge yesterday and that naked kid next door was standing right in front of our house. He is cheapening our property. Please tell us what to do. --888

Dear 888: The sight of a two and a half year old boy with no clothes on does not offend me in a house or a yard, but in our society people who appear in public are expected to wear some covering, and this means people of all ages. This is not a matter for the police, but DO suggest to the mother that she put some clothing on the boy for protection against injury, if for no other reason.

Dear Ann Landers: Are gifts "forever" or until you want them back?

I have just received a list (17 items) which my former friend would like returned. The list dates back to 1962. Her memory astounds me.

I asked the advice of a friend who was in a similar spot last year. He said, "Give everything back or you'll never get rid of her."

Incidentally, she is NOT returning the engagement ring! May I hear your views on this subject? --Fence-Sitting

Dear Fence: Eight years is a long time to just "go with" a girl and she is undoubtedly trying to get even -- poor thing. Your friend gave you sound advice and I hope you take it. In the meantime, the lady is entitled to the ring if the gentleman breaks the engagement, which I'll bet you did.

Confidential to all who wrote regarding the quote in question: The motto, "If you are not part of the solution, you are part of the problem," is not original with me. This phrase belongs to Eldridge Cleaver.

How will you know when the real thing comes along? Ask Ann Landers. Send for her booklet "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference." Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Important Than Ecology Work

NEW YORK (AP) -- Kathleen Kennedy, 19, eldest of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's 11 children, says she would "much rather work with Indians or Eskimos with people than with ecology."

Because of environmental pollution, "slowly everything's dying out," the Radcliffe College freshman said in an interview in the current issue of Seventeen magazine. "But I think the people suffering and dying right now are awfully important."

Interviewed before the end of the spring semester, Miss Kennedy spoke of her plans to work with Eskimos this summer. She worked with Indians on a reservation two summers ago.

Dessert Kabobs

Cart-wheel Bananas

Leave peel on firm bananas; cut in diagonal slices, about 3/4 inch thick. Dip cut ends in lemon juice, then dunk in mixture of brown sugar and cinnamon.

Thread on skewers (going through skin), alternating with quartered orange slices (thick and unpeeled). Broil until hot through and banana peel turns brown.

Candy-Cooky Poles

Alternate big fluffy marshmallows and chocolate drop cookies on a skewer; toast till good and gooey. Turn often.

Cake Kabobs

Cut pound cake or angel cake (from baked goods counter) in 1 1/2-inch cubes. Spear each on fork and dip in melted currant jelly; then roll in flaked coconut to cover. String on skewers and toast over very hot coals, turning often.

Or dip cubes of angel or pound cake in sweetened condensed milk, or in a mixture of 1/2 cup honey and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Roll in flaked coconut, string on skewers and toast as above.

Fruit-bobs

Thread maraschino cherries in center of canned peach halves--begin and end skewers with halved pineapple ring. Brush with butter and broil, turning often.

Donut Holes

Cut refrigerated biscuits (from a tube) in thirds, and roll each piece into a ball. String on skewers, leaving about 1/2 inch between balls. "Bake" over hot coals, turning constantly until browned and completely done, about 7 minutes. At once, push off skewers into melted butter or margarine; roll in cinnamon-sugar mixture. Eat right away! One tube makes 30 "donuts."

For I will satisfy the weary soul. (Jer. 31:25).

When we seek more satisfaction in life we often find that fulfillment is not dependent on anything physical or mental, that it is not dependent on having or not having. What we actually need is to become more involved with the Christ within ourselves, so that we can recognize our personal purpose for living. Prayer helps us to commune with our Christ self, and we discover that there is no longer self and Christ, but a merging into one. Our life is no longer empty, but satisfied and purposeful.

Rachael Thornton Crowned Miss WKRO

EAST PARIIE -- Miss Rachael Thornton, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Thornton, East Prairie, was crowned Miss WKRO at ceremonies held Friday, August 21 in Bardwell, Kentucky.

This year marks the twenty second year of the pageant sponsored by Radio Station WKRO, Cairo, Illinois, and participating merchants in the tri-state area.

Twenty-two lovely young ladies were entered in the contest. The girls are voted on in their home towns and the one receiving the highest number of votes is then eligible to enter the finals. At Friday night's pageant seven finalists were judged on poise, personality, and beauty in formal wear by three impartial judges.

The new Miss WKRO is a 1970 graduate of East Prairie High School and plans to attend South East Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau this fall and work toward a degree in Elementary Education. Miss Thornton is 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighs 135 pounds, has black hair and green eyes.

A $300 cash prize and a dozen red roses were presented to the new queen who will retain her crown until next year's pageant, which will be held in East Prairie.

After winning her first beauty contest Rachael said she has no plans at present to enter another. "It was a very nice experience, one I'll always remember and I feel anyone who has the opportunity to enter, should, she said. "The chance to meet the other girls and the public is a valuable experience and I'm very happy I could represent my hometown and win also."

from The Bible

For I will satisfy the weary soul. (Jer. 31:25).

When we seek more satisfaction in life we often find that fulfillment is not dependent on anything physical or mental, that it is not dependent on having or not having. What we actually need is to become more involved with the Christ within ourselves, so that we can recognize our personal purpose for living. Prayer helps us to commune with our Christ self, and we discover that there is no longer self and Christ, but a merging into one. Our life is no longer empty, but satisfied and purposeful.

WASHINGTON (AP) -- For the first time, women have been hired as Secret Service police officers.

A spokesman said Tuesday that seven women had been named to the Executive Protective Service, a uniformed division which guards the White House and embassies.

Just a coincidence, he said, that the announcement was made the day before demonstrations by women's rights leaders.

The policewomen will assist in interviewing juveniles and females. Their starting salary will be $8,500 per year, same as that for men.

Sophomores Strengthen Buckeyes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Michigan in 1970 are just as important, the 20-year Ohio State bid for a second straight national college football crown last fall, is still a word coach Woody Hayes keeps out of his vocabulary.

The Wolverines spilled the Buckeyes 24-12 in the last game in 1969, costing Ohio State an undisputed Big Ten Conference title and a national title.

"That team that decided us in the final game deserves a high rating again," Hayes said of Michigan which earned a league co-title with the Buckeyes.

Although Hayes would contend the eight games before

Michigan in 1970 are just as important, the 20-year Ohio State bid for a second straight national college football crown last fall, is still a word coach Woody Hayes keeps out of his vocabulary.

What can he call on as the Buckeyes bid for their fourth national and seventh league crown under Hayes?

He can call on 18 two-year lettermen who played on the 1968 Big Ten, national and Rose Bowl champion team, one of the country's top quarterbacks, two All-Americans and eight to 10 prize sophomores.

"The sophomores should make us a little stronger than last year," Hayes said. "Eight or 10 of them could be starting before the season is over."

Only three, 240-pound offensive guard John Hicks and 240-pound George Hasenohr and 232-pound Shad Williams, will crack the veteran lineup early.

Hicks is the biggest guard Hayes has had since All-American Jim Parker in 1956, an ironic twist to the 1970 Buckeye picture. It's offensive guard that could be Ohio State's one real weakness. "We have lost eight guards one way or another since last season," Hayes said.

Excepting All-American fullback Jim Otis, most of the firepower returns from the 1969 team list fall.

Quarterback Rex Kern launches his third season of driving opposing defenses crazy with his option plays. He's played nearly all of his three seasons with assorted injuries and has undergone two operations during that span.

The defense again will be a relentless, excellent-pursuing one centered around middle guard Jim Stillwagon and cornerback Jack Tatum.

Hayes, once famed for his three-yards-and-a-cloud-of-dust offense, has gone more to the passing game in recent seasons. With the personnel available, he is expected to continue that tendency this fall.

"Nobody has better receivers than we do," Hayes said of ends Bruce Jankowski and Jan White and wingback Larry Zelina.

Jankowski and White both travel the 100-yard dash in under 10 seconds and all three "can catch the ball in a crowd," according to Hayes.

The Buckeyes' biggest problem? Complacency. "It's up to us coaches to build a fire under the seniors," one assistant coach said.

Bengals Pick Up Q.B.

Virgil Carter, who recently shuffled off to Buffalo, has been shuffled on to Cincinnati.

The Cincinnati Bengals, sorely in need of quarterback help, picked up the signal caller from the Bills for an undisclosed build a fire under the seniors, future draft choice Wednesday.

Carter, a Brigham Young star, played two years with the Chicago Bears before going to Buffalo during the off-season.

The Bengals, who lost No. 1 quarterback Greg Cook to injury recently, also picked up Bob Davis from the New York Giants. Davis, placed on waivers by the Giants, had been a reserve quarterback for the Houston Oilers for three years.

Carter completed 36 of 71 passes for 343 yards in a little-used role last year. In 1968, he passed for 769 yards while starting seven games.

Elsewhere in the National Football League, the Detroit Lions traded rookie guard Bob Parker to the Philadelphia Eagles for veteran receiver Chuck Hughes.

Hughes, a four-year veteran, was a fourth-round draft choice of the Eagles in 1967.

The Baltimore Colts acquired running back Eugene Moore from San Francisco on waivers and announced the retirement of reserve linebacker Butch Riley.

The Minnesota Vikings cut defensive back Seth Miller, wide receiver John Spinks, kicker Les Perry and tackle Andy Kolstad.

Washington asked waivers on veterans Carl Kammerer, a defensive end, and Tom Brown, a strong safety, and named Floyd Peters as player-coach on the defensive line.

The Atlanta Falcons later claimed Kammerer.

The Dallas Cowboys traded an undisclosed draft choice to the New Orleans Saints for veteran safety Bobby Thompson.

At the same time, the overall population of North America geese is at a high level. The U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife reports record highs of Canada geese along the Atlantic Coast and in parts of the Mississippi and Central flyways.

The low quota on he Missouri flock is an effort to save a good breeding population and begin the painstaking job of building the flock back to the pre-storm level and above.

Boston placed two players on the injured waiver list—quarterback Aaron Marsh and Ed Toner, a defensive tackle.

Receiver Willie Richardson returned to the Pittsburgh Steelers camp after three days' absence because of a contract hassle.

Coach Chuck Noll spoke with Richardson by phone in Baltimore and suggested he try to solve the problem in camp, a Steeler spokesman said.

Richardson, obtained by the Steelers from the Colts last week, had left the Latrobe, Pa. site over the weekend when he asked to have his contract renegotiated and the club refused.

Seven players with the flu missed their second straight day of practice at the San Francisco 49ers' camp. Coach Dick Nolan said he expected the sick players, including starters Dick Witcher and Charlie Krueger, to be ready for Saturday night's game against Denver.

Chicago announced that Jack Concannon would be the starting quarterback Saturday night against St. Louis. He supplants Bobby Douglass.

Return To Boom Years

JEFFERSON CITY — Missouri duck hunters will enjoy a return to the liberal limits of the boom years, but goose hunters face restrictions because of a nesting bust in the Missouri flock.

The Conservation Commission has set the duck season from Oct. 24 through Dec. 17, a bonus of 25 days from last year's total 30-day season. Daily bag limits will be six with 12 in possession.

Not more than two ducks daily can be bagged, with four in possession. Nor more than two may be wood ducks with four in possession and hunters may not shoot more than one canvasback or one redhead daily and may not have more than one in possession.

In addition to the six ducks daily, there will be a bonus of two scaup. Lucky hunters can bag as many as eight ducks if the species are right.

In addition there is a special teal season Sept. 12-20. In that season, teal only are legal and daily bag is four with eight in possession, for any waterfowl season, all hunters must have a valid hunting permit and, if over 16, a Migratory Waterfowl Stamp.

The statewide season on blue, snow and whitefront geese will be Oct. 24 through Jan. 1. Outside of three special zones, the Canada goose season runs from Oct. 24 through Dec. 17.

The general daily limit on geese is five, of which not more than two may be Canada geese nor two may be whitefront geese. Combined, hunters may not have more than one each of the two species.

General possession limit on Canadas and whitefronts is four combined, but hunters may not have more than two whitefronts in possession.

There is no open season on Canada geese in the Montrose zone and in a new zone centered on Bull Shoals, since these two areas have building populations of giant Canada geese which are being protected.

There are three special goose zones where season and bag limits vary from the several limits. One is the Swan Lake zone which will have a 15,000 quota. Daily bag is one Canada with four in possession. The Swan Lake season will be from Oct. 24 through Dec. 17 or until the quota is reached, whichever is first.

The second zone is the Squaw Creek zone where the season will run from Oct. 24 through Jan. 1 on blue, snow and whitefront geese and from Oct. 24 through Nov. 22 on Canada geese. Bag limits are one Canada and two in possession. Statewide limits apply on other geese.

A new zone is the area east of Highway 67, south of the Highway 61 junction. In this area, the lower Mississippi, the season on Canadas is Dec. 1 through Jan. 24. Daily limit in this area is one Canada and two in possession.

Other seasons include one on coots concurrent with the duck season, with a daily bag of 15 and 30 in possession, and a merganser season, also concurrent with the duck season, with five daily and 10 in possession (not more than one daily being a hooded merganser nor more than two hooded mergansers in possession).

Weather is the culprit behind the curtailed goose quota at Swan Lake, where the bulk of Missouri goose hunting is done. A massive snowstorm hit the breeding grounds in the middle of the 1969 nesting season, causing a very poor hatch in the flock which migrates through Missouri.

At the same time, the overall population of North America geese is at a high level. The U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife reports record highs of Canada geese along the Atlantic Coast and in parts of the Mississippi and Central flyways.

The low quota on he Missouri flock is an effort to save a good breeding population and begin the painstaking job of building the flock back to the pre-storm level and above.

Giants Upend Cards

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Most folks count the San Francisco Giants out of the National League pennant picture, but somebody forgot to tell the club.

The Giants made it nine victories in their last 11 games Wednesday afternoon by roaring from behind twice and edging the St. Louis Cardinals 8-7 on Jim Hart's two-out, ninth-inning single.

The victory was the Giants' third straight and clinched the season series with the Cardinals entering today's season finale between the clubs. San Francisco holds a 7-4 advantage over St. Louis.

"The club has a good attitude," admits Manager Charlie Fox. "Everyone is trying

RECEIVING the Dr. Joe Zimmerman Trophy from Jim Collier is Fred Copeland (left) of New Madrid. The presentation followed last week's final round play in the first annual Junior Golf Championship at the Kennett Country Club. Copeland fired a two under par, 54-hole total of 218, to lead the field of 50.

Copeland Wins Golf Honors

Fifteen year old Fred Copeland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Copeland of New Madrid, shot a two over par 218, to climax the 54 hole, first annual Junior Golf Championship held at the Kennett Country Club last week. Copeland out-distanced a field of fifty golfers to win the event.

Ben Cantrell, Hayti, won the 12-13 year old age division shooting a 264, besting his nearest opponents by seven strokes.

like heck for a higher finish. The Cubs beat us 15-0 Saturday, but we've bounced back for three straight.

"In the last couple of weeks," Fox adds, "we've played our steadiest ball of the season. This club has the ability to bounce back because there's a lot of punch in the lineup."

Cardinal starter Nelson Briles discovered the Giant power Wednesday. He blew 3-0 and 6-3 leads before the wild finish.

The Giants trailer 6-4 in the bottom of the seventh when Bobby Bonds' triple, Willie Mays' run-scoring single and Willie McCovey's two-run homer put San Francisco ahead 7-5.

Merritt Wins 20th

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Jim Merritt must have known something. Why else would the slick Cincinnati southpaw stash away nearly a case of champagne in his locker ... before the game?

"You don't win 20 games every day," said the 26-year-old hurler, referring to the 10 bottles of champagne, after he became the first left-hander in 45 years to win 20 for the Reds.

Merritt didn't last all the way, going 6 2/3 innings before Wayne Granger came on to save the memorable victory as the Reds edged Philadelphia 6-5 Wednesday night.

"It was a nice win," said the slender Merritt. "I would have liked to have gone all the way but I got tired. Wayne came on through and slammed the door being obtained during the winter for me." It was Granger's 29th of 1969 from Minnesota for Leo Cardenas, was given a 6-2 edge

Merritt, who has lost 10 before the Phils unloaded for decisions, became the National League's first 20-game winner this season although he gave up 15 hits before Granger bailed him out. Dave McNally of Baltimore has 20 victories in the American League. The last Cincinnati lefty to win 20 was Eppa Rixey, who was 21-11 in 1925.

In other NL action, Atlanta dropped New York 9-7, San Diego edged Pittsburgh 2-1, Los Angeles beat Chicago 8-5, Houston topped Montreal 5-4 and San Francisco edged St. Louis 8-7.

In the American League, New York blanked Kansas City 3-0, Minnesota trounced Boston 7-0, California whipped Detroit 6-3, Cleveland ripped Milwaukee 7-2, Baltimore topped Oakland 5-1 and Chicago downed Washington 3-1.

homer of the year and Bernie Carbo had a three-run shot for the Reds, his 21st. Don Money cracked a two-run homer for the Phils.

Hank Aaron slammed his 35th homer of the year, triggering a three-run Atlanta ninth inning that overcame a 7-6 Mets lead. Aaron's two-run shot and No. 59 of his career capped an uphill battle by the Braves, who at one time trailed 7-1.

Orlando Cepeda, Clete Boyer and Bob Tillman added homers for Atlanta while Art Shamsky and Wayne Garrett had two-run blasts for New York.

Ed Spiezio drilled a two-run homer in the seventh inning, sending the Padres to their second straight victory over the Pirates. Despite the loss Pittsburgh still remains three games in front of the Mets in the East.

Freddie Patek fumbled Ivan Murrell's leadoff bounce before Spiezio connected for his 10th homer of the year off rookie right-hander Fred Cambria, spoiling his major league debut.

Pat Dobson, 10-13, allowed 12 hits but the Pirates scored only in the sixth on John Jeter's single, stolen base and Roberto Clemente's run-scoring single.

Jim Lefebvre clouted a three-run homer and Claude Osteen captured his 14th victory with relief help from Jim Brewer

Oakland Fading

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Tangling with Don Buford at needed to gain his 18th victory. 60 feet, six inches isn't Jim Buford also singled off reliever Hunter's idea of nocturnal Bob Locker in the seventh and bliss—especially on an August boosted his season batting night in Baltimore.

Buford cuffed Hunter for a two-run homer Wednesday night, propelling the Orioles to a 5-1 victory over the fading Oakland A's.

It was the Baltimore minislugger's 13th base hit in 21 atbats against the Catfish over a row while the A's have the Oakland right-hander's ninth loss in as many August decisions in those two seasons.

Elsewhere, a bomb scare in Cleveland failed to rattle Steve Gargan, who pitched the Indians victory since being recalled from to a 7-2 victory over Milwaukee; the minors early last month. Minnesota blanked Boston 7-0 on a rookie Bert Blyleven's four-hitter; the New York Yankees topped Kansas City 3-0 and behind Stan Bahnsen; California beat Detroit 6-3 and the Chicago White Sox downed Washington 3-1.

In the National League, Atlanta rallied to shade the New York Mets 9-7; Cincinnati edged Philadelphia 6-5; Houston nipped Montreal 5-4; San Francisco outscored St. Louis 8-7; San Diego tripped Pittsburgh 2-1 and Los Angeles trimmed the Chicago Cubs 8-5.

Buford's 14th homer of the season, a third-inning shot over the right center field fence, gave the Twins protected their winless right-hander his 3-4 game West Division lead over eighth loss.

Dear Bessie

By BESSIE LEE
Dear Bessie:
I am beginning to think my boyfriend is just going with me for what he can get because all we ever do is park and he can't seem to keep his hands off of me. I am afraid pretty soon we will do something we'll regret. How can I be sure he really loves me?
Pressed
Dear Bessie:
The responsibility for keeping things within bounds belongs to him as much as it does to you. You are absolutely right that a constant diet of parking is going to lead to trouble. You should explain to him how you feel and insist that you go places and do things and spend a good bit of time with other people. If he doesn't go along with the way you feel you should have very little doubt about his feelings for you and find someone who will give you the respect you deserve.

Dear Bessie:
I was going with a boy for seven months then all of a sudden he changed. He acted strangely. One night he just ignored me. The next day when I went to his house we had a big fight. A couple of days later, he broke up with me and five minutes later he called some girl from out-of-town and asked her to go with him. I called her up and wished her luck with my ex-boyfriend. After two days went by she broke up with him and now I'm trying to get him back. Why? Because I still love him. The girl turned him against me completely. He doesn't talk to me because he's sorry for what he did. My friends tell me he wants to go back with me but he just won't talk to me about it. What should I do? Wait for him to ask me back, or just forget him?
Broken Hearted
Dear Broken Hearted:
You've got to give him time to get over his obvious embarrassment at the way he treated you. Don't try to press him. As a matter of fact, cool it and let him come to you. You don't have to forget him but under the circumstances, it wouldn't do you any harm at all to develop some interest in other boys. It sounds very much as if he's learned a lesson but you can make sure of that if you let him make the move to get back.
***

Dear Bessie:
Do people really like quiet people? I am eighteen and sometimes I can just be so silent, but when I'm with people, I know I can talk. Usually when I meet people I don't feel interested and don't know what to talk about. I usually go by what they say instead of going by my own personality. I like to meet kids but yet I am afraid of a silent non-fun time. How can I develop my personality and relationships, etc?

Hopeful
Dear Hopeful:
First of all, you should realize that periods of silence and times when you listen to others are perfectly proper and a good personality so that it will be very difficult to build relationships with others. You've got to learn to make small talk, learn to join in a conversation even if it is only to ask questions. Practice projecting your personality with those you know and then carry that over to your behavior when you meet new people. Knowing that you are in a shell, you are already on the way. All you need to do now is to give your problem some thought and some effort and you'll come out of your shell.

Ms. Title Favored by Feminists

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—In women's liberation language, if you're a female you're a Ms.

That's pronounced Mizz and as Jean Crosby explains: "It's like what children call their teachers, they don't know the difference."

Jean, coordinator of the women's liberation rally in Union Square, refuses to say whether she is a Miss or Mrs.

"In our society, women are very often defined in relation to a man rather than as autonomous human beings," she said. "To me that's very offensive, to have people not see me as me and to know who I'm living with or married to."

"I don't think we ask the same thing of men," Jean said.

"If we must use some form of address, let's do the same thing as men do. Mr. doesn't mean one or the other. Ms. doesn't either."

Jean said the use of Ms. is "something that's just being tested out." But she added: "I've seen quite a bit of it in the Bay area."

To Jean, Ms. is just part of a larger problem—the male domination of the English language. "So much of our language is so male-oriented, we're going to have to come up with new words."

For example, Jean said, "every word that refers to males and females together is always male... like mankind."

"In the Constitution, it says 'all men are created equal,'" she said. "And we had to pass an amendment because we clearly weren't covered under that."

The marriage ceremony says, "I now pronounce you man and wife." Why not husband and wife? asks Jean.

"I don't think it makes a whole lot of sense to pronounce somebody man and woman when they're already born that way," she said.

For Jean herself, Mizz hasn't yet become everyday speech. "I prefer to call people by their first names and I don't use it except when I write letters."

Lack of Volunteers May Extend Draft To Doctors in '71

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon, saying that too many of this year's medical school graduates are gambling they won't be drafted, says doctors may be called into the Armed Forces next year.

Dr. Louis Rousselot, assistant secretary of defense for health, said in an open letter to the medical community he can "visualize the real necessity of requesting the director of Selective Service to order physicians for duty in the summer of 1971."

Court Moves Behind Walls Of Prison

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — For the first time in the 118-year history of San Quentin Prison, court proceedings have been held within its grim confines. Demonstrators protested at the main gate.

"We're trying it out on an experimental basis," Presiding Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin County Superior Court said Monday as he held pretrial hearings for four convicts accused of crimes within the prison walls.

He set trial date for two of them, indicating that at least one would be tried here despite protests both inside and outside the impromptu courtroom that the defendants were being denied a public trial.

Moving the court here was an outgrowth of the shootout Aug. 7 at the Marin County courthouse in nearby San Rafael. Four persons died as a youth smuggled guns inside a courtroom where a San Quentin convict was on trial. The presiding judge, the youth who brought in the guns and two convicts were shot to death.

Monday's hearing, held in the prison staff training building halfway between the main outer gate and the cell blocks, was technically open to the public. Those attending were required to identify themselves and be scanned with a metal detector. Besides furniture for a full roster of court personnel, there were 50 folding chairs for spectators.

Prison guards in riot gear patrolled quietly outside as sheriff's deputies and bailiffs stood guard inside the courtroom, which had all openings closed and was stifling hot.

Outside the prison gates, about 150 demonstrators protested that the proceeding was unconstitutional because the prison locale "intimidated" defendants and others.

There were no incidents as the crowd, watched also by FBI men with cameras, listened to speeches by several activist figures, including Tom Hayden, one of those convicted in the Chicago 7 riot trial.

Four prisoners appeared, all chained and manacled. Three said the court site violated their constitutional right to a public trial, but the judge said the time to air that objection would be during their trial—not in pretrial proceedings.

Wilson added he hoped that an appeal would be made by one of the defendants to the state Court of Appeal to determine the validity of the practice.

Outdoor Inauguration

James Monroe was the first U.S. president to be inaugurated outdoors. As the result of a controversy between the Senate and the House of Representatives over the distribution of seats, it was decided that the inauguration be held outdoors.

Served Long Term

Cordell Hull, who was described by President Franklin Roosevelt as the "father of the United Nations," served as secretary of state for nearly 12 years, which was longer than any of his predecessors, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

First List of Stars

The first list of stars that has been preserved and in which each star was given its name and brightness was made by Ptolemy of Alexandria, Egypt, about 2,000 years ago. This early list consisted of approximately 1,000 stars.

Mail Box

Mr. C. L. Blanton, Jr., Editor
The Daily Standard
205 South New Madrid St.
Sikeston, Missouri 63801

Dear Mr. Blanton:

Please refer to your article, "Portageville Man Found Slain in Field," which was published in The Daily Standard under date of Wednesday, August 12, 1970.

The New Madrid Chamber of Commerce, in the interest of both the City of New Madrid and New Madrid County, takes exception to the implication in the article that our County Sheriff, Willis "Cowboy" Ramsey, is remiss in his duties as a law enforcement officer. This implication appears in paragraph seven, sentence two of the above captioned article which states, "As is often the case, New Madrid county Sheriff Willis 'Cowboy' Ramsey was not available for comment about the crime and the investigation." This statement has elicited a great deal of unfavorable comment in both New Madrid and Scott counties.

It is our understanding that it is the prerogative of any law enforcement officer to be "unavailable for comment" at any time at his discretion, regardless of the county which he represents. Accordingly, the statement referred to could have been printed without the derogatory introductory clause. Yours very cordially,
Larry H. Rost
President.

Kennedy Estate Bulk Goes to Foundation

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The late Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador and father of a president and two U.S. senators, left a last will and testament bequeathing the bulk of his vast estate to a foundation named for a fourth son.

The size of Kennedy's estate is still undetermined, according to records inspected Tuesday in Palm Beach County Court. Kennedy, who made his winter home here his legal residence, died Nov. 18, 1969, in Hyannis Port, Mass.

In a will dated Dec. 30, 1965, and amended June 9, 1968, Kennedy specified that his widow, Rose, would receive a building in Albany, N.Y., known as the "Standard Building" and the sum of $500,000. In the amended will, he added "if prior to my death I shall have disposed of such Standard Building I hereby increase the cash bequest ... from $500,000 to $1 million.

He also bequeathed $25,000 each to two sisters, Loretta Connolly of St. Augustine, Fla., and Margaret Burke of Chestnut Hill, Mass.

Having provided during my lifetime for my children and grandchildren, and having made other arrangements for my household help and employees, I intentionally omit to make any further provision for any of them," Kennedy's will stated.

"And I give, devise and bequeath all of the rest, residue and remainder of my property, real, personal and of any nature whatsoever and whatsoever situate, unto the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation ..."

The foundation is named after Kennedy's eldest son, killed in World War II.

The foundation, with headquarters in Washington, has provided large sums for research on, and treatment of, mental retardation.

Grandfather Role New to Red Skelton

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Red Skelton, the Man of many roles, is a new character in real life: A grandfather for the first time.

Skelton, taping a fall television series for NBC television at nearby Burbank, stopped in the middle of work Saturday, associates said, and ran two blocks to St. Joseph Hospital to be among the first to see his granddaughter, Sabrina Maureen Alonso.

The comedian had been told by an NBC security officer that his daughter, Valentina, had just given birth to the 8-pound, 4-ounce youngster.

Skelton's son-in-law, Carlos Alonso, 27, is a film cutter for the CBS-TV network.

Foes Carry Faubus Into Runoff

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Former Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas outpolled eight candidates in the state's Democratic gubernatorial primary Tuesday but faced a Sept. 8 runoff to gain a rematch with Republican incumbent Winthrop Rockefeller.

In other primary contests, Democratic Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma won renomination to a 13th term. He has no opposition in the November general election and is in line to succeed retiring Rep. John W. McCormack, D-Mass., as Speaker of the House.

Tulsa attorney David Hall led a four-man Democratic battle to oppose Republican Gov. Dewey Bartlett in November but fell barely short of the 30 per cent-plus-one-vote needed to avoid a runoff.

In Alaska, Republican Gov. Keith Miller was pulling steadily ahead of Rep. Howard Pollock in his bid for nomination to his first full term as the state's chief executive. Sen. Ted Stevens easily won the Republican Senate nomination.

Faubus, 60, once a symbol of white resistance to integration, fashioned a substantial lead over the field but, as he had predicted, failed to gain a majority for outright nomination.

Dale Bumpers, a lawyer making his first political race, and state Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell were in a close contest for the other runoff spot.

Rockefeller, 58, easily defeated three little known opponents. He said he was looking forward to a possible rematch with Faubus who defeated him in 1964, when Faubus won a sixth two-year term.

House Majority Leader Albert rolled up a better than 4-1 margin in defeating rancher Marvin D. Andrews, a political newcomer.

In the Oklahoma Democratic gubernatorial contest, Hall had been campaigning since he came in third four years ago. He won 49.5 per cent of the vote but faces state Sen. Bryce Baggett of Oklahoma City who started campaigning only six weeks ago.

In the Alaska Democratic primary, former Gov. William Egan led Anchorage grocer Larry Carr for the gubernatorial nomination and state Rep. Wendell Kay of Anchorage was ahead of state Sen. Joe Josephson of Anchorage in the Senate race.

Today's teenagers are slouching their way into premature middle age, or will be if they don't straighten out and stand erect, warns Dr. Frank Stinchfield, a New York orthopedic surgeon.

As they keep riding instead of walking, watching TV instead of exercising, and slumping instead of sitting up, more of them are developing back strain, an ailment more often associated with their elders. That's because backaches are often results of inadequately conditioned abdominal and thigh muscles. These muscles bear the main stress in twisting, bending, and lifting.

Dr. Stinchfield recommends exercises including sit-ups and lying on your back and pumping an imaginary bicycle--or cycling itself.

Weed control chemicals in granular forms can be expected to save money and reduce hazards of pollution for the people of Missouri. Granular herbicides are now being used extensively on farms for control of weeds in corn and soybeans. Granules fit better into the farmers' materials--handling systems than do liquid herbicides, and granular materials are easier to handle.

Research by USDA and UMC ag engineers have developed a number of important guide lines for the use of granular herbicides under specific conditions and using specific metering devices. The results of the experiments can be used by manufacturers to improve the distribution of their applicators. Improved distribution, in turn, can provide pest control at lower application rates, with a reduction in cost and a further reduction in residue accumulation. Granules may be an answer to public concern about the use of herbicide sprays.

responsible members of the world community. How can they do that when they have so many problems? How much, for example of a new nation's meager income must go for food? How much of a more-developed nation's income will go for the same types of food?

Since additional food expenditure can go to increase the quantity of food consumed, increase the quality of the diet, or more generally some combination of the two, UMC ag economists W. Whitney Hicks and S. R. Johnson have developed a simplified model for determining how this will work in terms of quantity and quality components. This model will help planners to anticipate and adjust to changes in the level and composition of demand for food that occur in the course of a country's economic development.

Bonus Tacked Onto Savings Bonds Held 5 or More Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department, in a move designed to encourage people to keep savings bonds until they mature, Tuesday added a one half of one per cent "bonus" on bonds held five years or more.

The increase brings the interest rate on Series E and H bonds to 5 1/2 per cent, the maximum allowed under a new law President Nixon signed in San Clemente, Calif., Monday night.

Bruce McLaury, the Treasury's deputy under secretary for monetary affairs, told a news conference he hoped the increase would reverse the trend of heavy savings bond redemptions that has continued unbroken for 20 months.

Bonne Terre Banker Turns Himself In

FARMINGTON — James B. Crismon, the former president of the troubled First State Bank of Bonne Terre, surrendered Wednesday to local authorities on a charge of obtaining money by false pretenses and was promptly served with a second warrant by the Federal Bureau of Investigation charging him with an undisclosed violation of the Federal Reserve Act.

Crismon, who had been sought by the St. Francois County sheriff's office since Prosecuting Attorney Clinton B. Roberts filed the initial charge Tuesday, walked into the sheriff's office shortly after noon. He was accompanied by a St. Louis County attorney, Charles M. Shaw, and a bondsman.

The banker pleaded not guilty on the false pretenses charge in magistrate court, was released on $10,000 bond, and then was met by FBI agents as he left the courthouse.

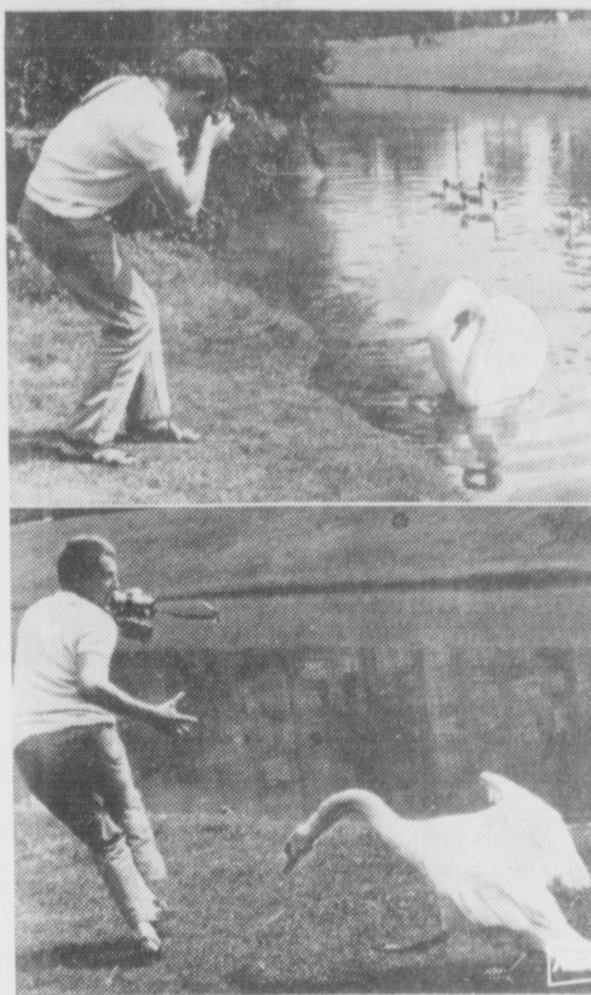

Crismon was scheduled to be taken to the St. Louis city jail and to appear before a U.S. commissioner there Thursday morning. He was told that bond would be set at $5,000.

The arrest marked the latest in a series of events that began with a routine investigation of the First State Bank by State Division of Finance auditors and was followed by Crismon's resignation Aug. 14, the closing of the institution Monday, the empanelling of a grand jury Tuesday to investigate the bank and the filing of charges the same day.

St. Louis banking sources have said that the state's six-week investigation uncovered approximately $1.4 million in questionable loans outstanding.

A portion of that total apparently involves a $71,000 loan Crismon is charged with arranging for two persons who authorities say never received the funds.

While action was being taken against the banker Wednesday, the institution's stockholders were meeting under the direction of State Finance Commissioner C. W. Culley.

Water Users Can Reduce Pollution And Save Money At Same Time

By JUDY STROUP

A great deal of pollution comes from the phosphate chemicals in detergents. New bio-degradable detergents merely cut down the foam produced. They still contain phosphates.

Phosphates are dangerous because they fertilize algae and vegetation. Detergents dumped into clear water help to propagate a thick green scum that borders our lakes and rivers. Consumers can hasten the production of non-polluting detergents.

Percentages of phosphates in major detergent brands are listed by the Conservation Education Association of Missouri and Wisconsin. The less phosphates, the less the product harms lakes and rivers. The list:

Axion, an enzyme action detergent is the highest in phosphates, with 43.7 per cent. Behind Axion are Biz, 40.4, Bio-Ad, 35.5, Salvo, 35.3, Oxydol, 30.7, Tide, 30.6, Bold, 30.2, Ajax, 28.2, Punch, 25.8, Drive, 25.3, Dreft, 24.5, Gain, 24.4, Duz, 23.1, Bonus, 22.3, Breeze, 22.2, Cheer, 22.0, Fab, 21.6, Cold Power, 19.9, Cold Water All, 9.8, Wisk, 7.6, and Trend, 1.4.

A Northwestern University study showed the following products contain a safer amount of phosphates: Add-it, Diaper sweet, and Ivory Flakes, all zero, and Diaper Pure, 1. The study cited Dash detergent as the highest of all, with a rating of 60.

Besides using low-phosphate detergents, individuals can combat water pollution and conserve precious water in other ways.

1. Have your plumber adjust your toilet tank to use less water. By lowering the water level, this will provide great savings in your water bill and the toilet will operate as effectively.

2. Do not use colored tissue, colored paper, or colored napkins. Dyes released in the manufacturer's discharge pollute streams visually and biologically.

3. Turn off or request that officials turn off all drinking fountains which flow continuously in hallways, public places, etc.

4. Let your lawn or yard go natural. Instead of massive watering or irrigation efforts, plant vegetation which can flourish under normal rain.

5. Switch light bulbs not used for reading to lower wattage bulbs. Lower electrical power consumption reduces home or office operating costs and reduces thermal water pollution loads at the electrical generating plant.

6. If your bathtub has a shower, the next time you take a shower put the plug in position to measure how much water is used during your shower. After comparing the volume used for a shower versus the bath, use which saves more water.

Reduction of recreational opportunities represents the most widespread consequence of water pollution, according to the first report of the Council of Environmental Quality.

Water pollution in the form of solids, gas bubbles, odors, and algal blooms make boating and water skiing unpleasant. If bacterial levels are sufficiently high, water pollution can be a health hazard to water sportsmen. Make sure your boat does not leak oil into the water. Do not dispose on-board wastes in the water.

Swimming becomes dangerous when bacterial counts reach certain levels. Inadequately disinfected wastes from municipalities and overflows from combined sewers are principal bacterial polluters in populated areas.

Pollution can cause unpleasant odors near bodies of water. The esthetic qualities of water than are lost as the picknickers and hikers stop frequenting once beautiful lakes and streams.

The states are the primary enforcers of water quality standards. If they fail to act, the Secretary of the Interior may then set standards and enforce them.

In his Feb. 10 message on the environment, President Nixon said that he was requesting authority to require the states with Federal approval to set specific effluent discharge requirements as part of water quality standards.

The federal government gives grants to municipalities to build waste treatment works. The legislation permits the government to make basic grants of 30 per cent of the costs of construction.

Recent oil spills show conclusively that no fully effective techniques are available to control oil spills on large lakes or in the ocean. Common straw, which soaks up oil so that it can be removed, is still the standard material for cleaning oil spills.

Spills of a smaller sort, those which leak from cars onto streets and driveways, also create pollution. The oil finds its way into streams and ditches, where it pollutes the water and cuts the oxygen supply to fish.

Street washing should be discouraged to conserve water. Too often this practice is left over from the days of manure in the streets. Sweeping the rotary brushes accomplishes the same thing.

Individuals can also use detergents, toothpaste, shampoos, and other household commodities, which have the least detrimental effect on the water environment where they will eventually end up.

The amount of money needed to clean up polluted water is great. The direct costs are immense but a substantial part of the costs are indirect. For example any lasting solution is bound to involve modification of construction, agriculture, and water management practices.

The cost over the next five years for municipal waste treatment plants to meet water quality standards is estimated at $10 billion-about $2 billion a year. Operating charges are

HAVE YOU PURCHASED one of the detergents on the lower shelf? Then you may be guilty of creating an algae scum on a lake or stream in your area.

If You Were the Judge Man Has No Legal Duty to Aid Another

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

The shortest distance between two points being a straight line, Calvin decided to sneak across Mr. Hemlock's back yard to get to his home. On the way, however, as Calvin was speedily weaving his way through bushes and shrubs, he had the ill fortune to trip and break his leg.

As he lay there for three hours, Mr. Hemlock sat on his back porch and watched gleefully as Calvin writhed in pain. In fact, it was only when someone heard Calvin's calls for help and removed him to a hospital that Mr. Hemlock showed any concern. And that was for the interruption of his pleasure.

In due course, it was medically determined that earlier assistance would have substantially reduced Calvin's injury. Consequently he sued Mr. Hemlock for not coming to his aid.

"Instead of calling for help," Calvin told the judge, "he just sat there like a gleeful ghoul and smiled at me."

"I didn't tell him to sneak across my property," was Mr. Hemlock's defense, "nor did I tell him to fall. What I did do, was to mind my own business and you can't be sued for that."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make ghoulish Mr. Hemlock pay for not lending Calvin a hand?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that Mr. Hemlock had no legal duty to help Calvin; that the penalties for withholding relief to the suffering, failing to respond to calls for charity, or faltering in bestowing brotherly love on the unfortunate, are provided for in the higher law, but not by the laws of man.

(Based upon a 1903 Kansas Supreme Court Decision)

Next, Conclusion.

The Prayer from The Upper Room

For the moment all discipline seems painful rather than pleasant; later it yields the peaceful fruit of righteousness to those who have been trained by it. (Hebrews 12:11, RSV)

PRAYER: Eternal God, grant us the light to see that love lies behind law and discipline. Grant us the grace to discipline ourselves and our children in the pursuit of godly living. In the name of Jesus we ask it. Amen.

Sumerian, dating from 5000 B.C., is the oldest known written language.

ENZYME ACTION detergents which promise super cleaning power also promise a super polluted environment. Enzyme detergents contain more phosphates than any other type laundry product.

Agnew Arrives In Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew arrived in Vietnam today for his second visit of the year and declared that the success of the Cambodian venture has insured that U.S. troop withdrawals will proceed as planned.

"We will go forward with it," Agnew told newsmen accompanying him on the flight across the South China Sea from Formosa. The present program calls for U.S. forces in Vietnam to be reduced to 284,000 men by next April.

The vice president spent most of the afternoon in conference with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, reviewing the progress of the war in South Vietnam and neighboring Cambodia. They last met when Agnew was here at the beginning of the year.

Agnew was maintaining a fast pace in his current Asian visit, with 48 hours in South Korea, 24 in mainland China and now 24 or less in South Vietnam. He goes to Thailand Friday, and although he said again today he would not visit Cambodia, officials in Phnom Penh were making plans for him to stop there for lunch en route to Bangkok.

In his remarks to newsmen during the flight from Formosa, the vice president said the Vietnam policy advocated by Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and an opponent of U.S. participation in the war, is "very, very wrong and dangerously wrong," and is being exploited by the Hanoi government.

The newsmen asked Agnew if he was referring to antiwar senators on Wednesday when he attacked "a few opportunists who may wish to see us bug out."

"I would not cite any members of the Senate as being opportunists," Agnew replied, then added:

"I think there is a great diversity of opinion as to what we should be doing in Southeast Asia, and I find myself in violent disagreement with people such as Sen. Fulbright.

"I don't impugn his motives and I don't think he is less patriotic for expressing his convictions, but I think he is very, very wrong and dangerously wrong and that since he is, in my opinion, in a position where he must be disagreed with and on very firm terms..."

The United States has about 1,000 Minuteman missiles, of which 10 have been outfitted so far with three warheads each that can be targeted independently on enemy points.

Dr. John Foster, the Pentagon's top scientist as director of defense research, said, meanwhile, he is concerned not with the present U.S.-Soviet "rough parity" but with the momentum of the Soviet weapons buildup while the United States stands still.

"The time is right to try to work out something with the Soviets," he said, referring to the current U.S.-Soviet arms limitation talks. "But they still have the momentum," Foster told 300 students.

Foster, admitting "I'm a research man," said he is particularly concerned with what he called the intelligence the Soviets could have in the U.S. He said it would leave America not only behind in strategic and tactical weaponry but unable to catch up if the Soviets were suddenly found to have some new decisive weapons.

Foster said most people, including scientists, who have taken strong stands against the Safeguard antimissile system "don't know a damn thing about it."

He said the system has consistently proved workable in tests since 1961 and said that is why the administration asked expansion of two additional sites this year rather than await tests at the first two sites approved last year.

There will be none for the road in a new municipal parking garage in Salisbury, Rhodesia. The city council reversed a decision by its public works committee to allow a bar in the building.

Laird Tells Of Soviet SS11 Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird says the Soviets have test-fired multiple warheads on their basic SS11 intercontinental ballistic missile for the first time.

And his top Pentagon scientist says at the present pace the Soviets could not only outstrip the United States in strategic and tactical weaponry by 1976 but in secret technology as well.

Laird announced Wednesday an American destroyer saw three objects drop in the Pacific near Midway Island last Friday from an SS11, the Russian equivalent of the U.S. Minuteman.

It is not known, he said, if the objects were weapons or if they were aimed and not simply dropped.

"If (they) do deploy this system and it does have three warheads," Laird told a news conference, "(they) accelerate the number of warheads by three times."

This would be more than 2,100 warheads using Laird's figure of "well over 700" Soviet SS11s, or 2,400 using the figure given congressional committees, this spring of 500 Soviet SS11s as of February this year.

The Soviets previously tested multiple warheads on their giant SS9—more than twice the size of the SS11 and the Minuteman—but have not deployed them. Deployment of multiple warheads on U.S. Minuteman III missiles is under way.

Stepson Describes Finding of LaBianca

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A teen-age boy was near tears at the Sharon Tate murder trial as he told of finding the bloody body of his stepfather, Leno LaBianca, in a crouching position.

Struthers said he checked the house days later to see if anything was missing. His mother's wallet was gone, he said. The state's star witness, Linda Kasabian, has testified that Manson entered the LaBianca home before the killings, then came out with the wallet which he told her to discard.

The wallet, later found in a gas station rest room, was identified by Struthers. The youth, whose eyes were red and puffy, appeared near tears as he viewed a color photograph in the wallet.

"It's a graduation picture," he said, "of me."

On cross-examination of a defense attorney, Paul Fitzgerald, Struthers said the Tate, four visitors at her home and the LaBiancas in August, 1969.

The LaBiancas, slain about 10 miles from the Tate place were found amid bloody scrawlings. A carving fork was stuck in LaBianca's stomach and the word "War" was carved on his chest, police have said.

Struthers said his mother and stepfather had spent part of a weekend with him and family friends at Lake Isabella, a central California resort, then returned "Healer (sic) Skelter" on a night of Aug. 9.

The following night, when Struthers returned, he said he got no answer when he knocked on the door. He summoned his sister, Susan, 23, who lived Tate nearby, and a friend, and they searched for keys.

"I got the keys out of my Atkins, 21, and Leslie Van mother's car and opened the Houten, 20.

back door," said Struthers. "When we got to the living we saw Leno LaBianca ... in a type of crouched position." He added, "We came out right away."
